

(a) First data flows from the input device into main memory.

(b) Next the CPU brings the data into its registers for processing.

(c) Then the CPU sends the processed data back to memory.

(d) Finally the results go to the output device.