

(a) Analysis—The input and processing are given. The output is to be determined.

(b) Design—The input and desired output are given. The processing is to be determined.