Acknowledgments

I am grateful to G-d for giving me the idea, inspiration, and energy to co-develop this review guide with my sister-partner, Shirlyn Thomas. It is a labor of love to my students and health information students around the world. I hope that this review guide brings clarity and focus to your studies and exam preparation.

I express gratitude to my mentors, Linda Johnson and Tella Williams, for guiding me in the health information field. Thank you also to Debora Butts for reviewing and providing input on the text while under construction. I thank the co-authors for sharing their knowledge, wisdom, and expertise. I acknowledge Houston Community College for supporting faculty in the use of technology to make the teaching and learning process easier.

In memory of my father, Carl, I thank him and my mother, Odell Tyson, for instilling in me the importance of education. Thanks to my sister, Cassandra Tyson, and my friend Elizabeth Hoover for countless hours of reviewing and referencing material.

Finally, I acknowledge my handsome husband, John Howard, whose encouragement and endless love are priceless.

—Carla Tyson-Howard

No one is or becomes without the help of others. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the others in my life who have contributed in various ways to make this product a living instrument to help others.

To God and my Lord and Savior, for creating me in your image and your likeness and for equipping me with all that was needed to complete your idea.

To Carla, for being a conduit of the idea and allowing me to share a part of making the lives of others better and for being one of my greatest teachers.

To my mother, who has given me a genetic transfer of determination and tenacity.

To my wonderful and precious husband, who became whatever I needed in the toughest parts of the process and is always a source of strength.

To my children, LaToya, T.K., and Trae, who are my inspirations and whose faces I reflect on when the going gets tough. To my grandson Prince Manuel, who is the joy of my heart.

To my sisters, Deborah and Kim, who are parts of the foundation on which I stand. Thanks for your never-ending support.

To all of the contributing authors, thank you for co-laboring with Carla and I to make this a superior learning tool.

—Shirlyn Thomas
